DIRECTORY OF OFFICIALS AND ORGANIZATIONS CONCERNED WITH THE PROTECTION OF BIRDS AND GAME, 1915.<sup>1</sup>

The sixteenth annual directory of officials and organizations concerned with the protection of birds and game in the United States and Canada, revised to July 15, 1915, has been arranged on the same plan as the directories issued each year since 1900. Its object is to present in convenient form the addresses of persons from whom information may be obtained concerning the game laws. It also shows the date of establishment of each State commission or wardenship, the changes which occur in such offices, and the publications issued by game officials.

The most important changes in 1915 are the establishment of a game and fish commission in Arkansas, the abolition of the office of State Game and Fish Commissioner in Florida, the provisions for the appointment of a single officer instead of a commission in Minnesota and New York, the consolidation of the office of game warden with that of several other offices under the Public Domain Commission in Michigan, and under a Board of Conservation in Wisconsin, and the reorganization of the commissions in North Dakota, Ohio, and Oregon.

In 45 States and Territories the enforcement of game laws is intrusted to game commissioners, wardens, or other State officers; in Florida, Mississippi, and Nevada to county wardens; in Virginia to city and magisterial district wardens; and in the District of Columbia to the Metropolitan police. The first special game officials were the local officers appointed in Massachusetts in 1739 for the preservation of deer, and called deer Reeves in 1764. Moose wardens were appointed in Maine in 1852, and ducking police in Maryland in 1872. The first State commissions whose jurisdiction was extended to include this work were the fish commissions of California and New Hampshire in 1878. Several national organizations are interested in the protection of birds and game, of which two are really international. In addition State associations and many local organizations cooperate in the work of protecting game in 31 States. One of these associations was organized in 1844, another in 1865, and a third in 1871. Similar organizations have been formed in 8 Provinces of Canada, of which 1 in Nova Scotia was established in 1853 and 1 in Quebec in 1859. Finally, 38 States have Audubon societies, organized especially for the study and protection of nongame birds.

Persons interested in game protection are requested to notify the Biological Survey of any errors or changes in addresses, in order that necessary corrections may be made in future editions of the directory.

T. S. PALMER,
In charge of Game Preservation.
